Fancy Groceries

AND ## CONFECTIONERIES.

I HAVE just opened a stock of Fancy Groceries and Confectioneries in the new building on the corner of Main and Second streets, two doors from the Post office, and respectfully solicit the patronage of the public—especially the ladies. My goods are new and fresh, and I will sell at attractive prices.

ODIE C. HAMEL.

SMALL CHANGE.

The weather is again clear and balmy.

A number of our citizens will go to the Centennial this week.

Grapes promise well here, they having escaped serious injury by the frost.

A slight frost was visible here Tuesday morning—not sufficient, however, to do any damage.

About five thousand people attended the circus in Trenton last Tuesday—so we are informed.

Thanks to the street committee, Main street is receiving a thorough overhauling, and is being put in first-class condition.

A flood of rain fell here last Thursday morning, washing out open drains thoroughly and doing some damage to plank walks and bridges.

Two large circus trains passed here last Monday, going to Jackson. Why do they skip Milan? We would give them a rousing big crowd.

The arrival of the L. & N. pay train, last Tuesday, was the most interesting event in railroad circles here—at least to railroaders.

The Mayor of Cairo invited our city fathers to visit that city and participate in the Grant reception last Friday, but none of them went.

Wils Williamson is doing a tip-top job of work on our streets; but if he doesn't replace our crossing we will take it all back, and growl at him awfully.

A large number of new Nashville advertisements reached us yesterday, and appear in to-day's paper, but too late for special comment in our local columns. They will have special attention in our next.

The Juvenile Debating Society will give another public debate to-morrow night. Subject: "Resolved, that Columbus deserved more praise for discovering America than Washington for defending it." We hope to see a full house.

We have an offer to make to our Main street neighbors. Let us all club in and buy nails and repair the plank walk in a substantial manner. "Many hands make light work," you know. None of us would feel the outlay, and yet it would be a considerable saving to the city treasury. Who will second us in the matter?

Nashville has on her holiday attire—all decked with flowers, evergreens and bunting. May she enjoy the coming month profitably and pleasantly, is our earnest wish.

Mr. W. A. Evans, who has for a long time been book-keeper in the L. & N. freight office here, has accepted a similar position in the office of Sup't. Harrihan, at Memphis. This is a well deserved promotion, as Mr. Evans is a thorough, quick and prompt man in his profession. He will, no doubt, give entire satisfaction in his new field of labor.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Flack, formerly of this city, has taken charge of a hotel in Dresden.

Wils Williams, Esq., of the Trenton Herald, went to Nashville yesterday.

Miss Octavia Cruse, of Greenfield, formerly of this city, was here visiting friends last Monday.

Miss Lillian Harris returned from a visit to Alamo last week, where she had been visiting relatives.

Mr. Ben Ragsdale and wife have moved back to this city, to make it their future home. We welcome them back.

Dr. A. W. Wilson, Missionary Secretary of the M. E. Church, South, passed up the road yesterday from Texas.

Prof. H. E. Foster is delivering a series of lectures on phrenology at Odd Fellows' Hall this week. Considerable interest is being manifested.

Mr. N. T. Custard, representing the substantial fruit commission house of Gerber & Signaigo, St. Louis, called on us last Monday. He says the berry crop in Southern Illinois is not so badly damaged as was thought.

Disgustingly Sad.

Last Saturday afternoon could be seen on our streets about a score of young men, several of them beardless boys, reeling on the streets with idiotic stare or the bully's swagger, the well known effects of a too free use of alcoholic potations. It was a sad and pitiful sight, and no doubt the conservators of the law would have done them a real kindness to have arrested them and inflicted a penalty as a warning to prevent them from a repetition of such senseless and degrading conduct. In the interest of morality and for the especial benefit of our community, we suggest to our city fathers that they pass and enforce an ordinance for the arrest and punishment of persons who have so little self-respect as to exhibit themselves to the community, and by conduct and language so outrage the moral sense of our citizens. The ladies should be shielded from men who brutalize themselves, and by profanity shock the modesty and finer feelings of our mothers, daughters and sisters, who tread our streets, either for pleasure or business; but there is a still more serious aspect to view this beastly condition that our fellow-men deliberately and in many cases persistently pursue. A man under alcoholic influence is in a condition to commit crime at any moment; he is not sane, and in getting drunk he has committed a grievous offence, not only against himself but the community, for he is in a condition to commit crime at the slightest offence and often without offence, as witness the recent murder at Jackson, when a drunken man wantonly shot down an inoffensive negro he had no quarrel with and was only drunk. Give us an ordinance so that our officers can arrest when a man is staggering on our streets, or is in a condition likely to produce a breach against the peace and dignity of our town, and let our citizens be freed from the too frequent exhibition of inebriety on our public streets, as well as profane swearing and vulgar language, "disgustingly to ears polite."

Returning Exodusters.

Last Saturday the south bound passenger train on the New Orleans road had as passengers about three dozen negroes who had become disgusted with the happy land of Kansas and were returning to their old homes in Mississippi. An intelligent copper colored man, who appeared to be a leader, informed us that they came near freezing to death out there; that they were packed in houses like stock, when they wanted to be in the open air, as they were at home. He said that all would return home as soon as they could get money enough to pay their fare, if they did not die before that time. One of the party, an old man, had once good property in Mississippi, enough, he said, to support him the balance of his life without work. Now he is returning without a dollar. They were bitter in their denunciations of the exodus agents in St. Louis; say they swindle the negroes, and that they ought to be severely punished. This party seem to be thoroughly cured of the Kansas fever.

THE CENTENNIAL.

A List of the Very Best Houses in Nashville, Which We Earnestly Recommend to our Readers.

It is known to the readers of the EXCHANGE that the Nashville Centennial Exposition opens to-morrow, and that immense preparations have been made for a successful exhibit. As hundreds and thousands of people will go from West Tennessee to the big show, we take pleasure in pointing them to the list below, which represents the best houses in their respective lines of business in the city. Don't fail to visit them.

The following is a programme for the first two days of the Centennial celebration.

FRIDAY EVENING, APRIL 23.

The doors of the Exposition will be open at 8 o'clock p. m. Music by the band. Prayer by the Rev. John B. McFerrin. Address by Rev. Thomas A. Kercheval, mayor of Nashville. Music. Opening address by Dr. Thomas A. Atchison, President of the Centennial Commission.

SATURDAY, APRIL 24.

The procession will be under the command of General Frank Cheatham. It will be formed on Broad street and the streets leading into it, commencing at Front and will move—via Broad, Spruce, Demonbreun, McLemore, Broad, Spruce, Church, Vine, Cedar, High, Church, Cherry, Union, College, around the square, Cedar—to the Capitol.

When the procession reaches the Capitol the following programme will be observed: National music by the band. Assembly called to order by President Atchison. Prayer by the Rev. Dr. T. A. Hoyt. Music. Address by his excellency, Governor A. S. Marks. Centennial Prize Ode, read by Dr. George S. Blackie. Music. Oration by Hon. John M. Bright. Subject: "Danielson and the Pioneers of Middle Tennessee." Music. Sketch of the history of Nashville, by Anson Nelson, read by W. K. McAlister, Jr., Esq. Music.

In the Lead Again.

As usual, our kind friend Jo. Ramser is leading off. He is always doing something handsome, and now he comes in with a quart of large, ripe, luscious strawberries, the finest of the season here. His crop seems to be much further advanced than any other around here, as he picked some ripe berries last week—enough for a fine treat for a sick lady. Jo, we thank you, and wish you to be always ahead in every good work.

Our Supplement.

On account of the rush of new advertisements this week, and news of great interest, we are compelled to issue a supplement. The reader will find much interesting matter in the document.

We hear of numerous excursion parties forming in different neighborhoods around here, all bound for the Centennial. Go, by all means, and don't forget the houses represented in the advertising columns of the EXCHANGE. Every one of them is first class in its line.

GADSDEN.

April, 20th, 1880.

Editors Exchange.

I am sorry to have to report that the fruit crop was badly damaged by the late cold snap. Peaches are all killed on low lands. On all uplands I think there is a fair crop, excepting some tender varieties, such as Crawford, etc. Our Strawberry crop looks better to-day. Mr. Puckett and Alsy Raines' faces have shortened up considerably this week, but after all the outlook is not very promising this season. We had some frost last night, but no damage done. Mr. Tosh's sign has held good so far; that is, as many days asit thunders in February, we will have the same number of frosts on or near the same days in April. There has been some falling off in the acreage at this place on the present crop, but the larger growers are planting largely this year. Mr. Puckett has planted ten acres in cressets, but the reliable Wilson is our stand-by yet. Our crop will be late this year, except a few that missed the freeze; a few are ripening now and will continue so until the main picking commences. A few more days will tell what we will have.

X. Y.

Fruit Prospect.

Mr. G. W. Barnett, of Barnett Bros., Chicago, wrote us a card from Centralia, Ill., last week in which he says: "I find severe damage to strawberries at Villa Ridge, Ill. The plants had generally bloomed, and this is out off. Cobden also reports great damage. Centralia has a fine prospect for berries. Other points (except apples, which are good) suffered severely by the freeze."

The Anna, Ill., Farmer and Fruit Grower, of last week, says: The latest advices are that the frost and freeze Sunday night killed all berries in bloom, and a portion of the peaches, plums, cherries, etc.; this will defer the ripening of strawberries till about the 10th of May.

Our fruit men begin again to wear broad smiles. They now say the berry crop will be very heavy; there will be a considerable sprinkling of peaches; plums and apples will be plentiful, and grapes are not seriously damaged. Let us be thankful.

With favorable weather, we think a few strawberries will be shipped from here next week. Everything is favorable now for a good crop and fair prices.

An Illinois youth, husking corn in a field near the railroad saw a new locomotive, with a red smoke stack. He became frightened, and ran to the house crying: "That 'ere engine is going to bust, sure; it's red hot clean to the top of the stovepipe."

The Norfolk Virginian favors sending unpledged delegations from the Southern States to the Cincinnati Convention, but sensibly insists that they shall not be mere passive spectators after they get there.

THE ADMIRERS

Of the product of L. W. Harper, Distiller, Nelson county, Kentucky, are hereby informed that his whiskey is not sold promiscuously over the country but is placed only into the hands of one respectable dealer in each place, whose name is a guarantee that the Whiskey is sold pure as it comes from the Distillery. Mr. W. H. Coley is the only authorized agent for Milan, Tenn.

Does your scalp itch? Have you dandruff, scurf, harsh or brittle hair? Dr. Greenhalge's hair oil. Restorer will soon remedy this or the druggist will return your money.

B. H. Steif Places a Magnificent

Regulator in the Rotunda of the Maxwell House.

B. R. Steif, the well known Union street jeweler, placed a magnificent clock in the rotunda of the Maxwell house yesterday, which attracted universal attention. It was hung by James R. Sadler, on a neat backing of walnut. The clock is the handsomest ever placed in a Southern hotel. It is seven feet in height, the casing is of rich black walnut, with glass front and sides, and twelve-inch dial. It has a fine imported regulator movement, pin escapement, with a sweep second hand and compensated pendulum.

Upon the glass facing, in gilt letters, appears the following:

B. H. STEIF,
Jeweler,
5 Union Street,
Nashville.

Mr. Steif will, within the next few days, furnish the Commercial Hotel with an eight day regulator, with glass front and sides, and twelve-inch dial. The height of this clock will be 51 inches.

These clocks are the very best manufactured and are certainly very creditable to the gentleman furnishing them.

Mr. Steif commenced as an apprentice boy at No. 5 Union street, in 1860, just twenty years ago, has built up a large trade and taken front rank with the jewelers of the South. He has established a reputation and won universal confidence, having always guaranteed everything he has sold, and his patrons have found him as good as his word. Goods bought from him have never failed to bear out his representation.

It is a good sign of progress that Mr. Steif is introducing into our hotels such elegant clocks as that placed in the Maxwell House rotunda, which is only to be seen and admired.
